

INTELLIGENCE EVER CONQUERS

Rajendra Prasad was a honest and simple king. He ruled a small kingdom. He cared for all people. He loved them and respected the dignity of every human being. He reigned the kingdom in a right manner. However, the kingdom was break in Army and the Kingdom didn't have a well trained captain to train the soldiers. Therefore neighbouring kings frequently threatened the king. One unfortunate day there the king received a scroll from a neighbour kingdom. It was written in the scroll. It was a golden opportunity to protect your country.

We didn't want to war as means to conquer your kingdom rather, we had a gigantic person who had participated in many countries and won all the tournaments we could like to give a chance to defeat, this gigantic personality and safe guard your country, Having read the scroll the king was very sad since his kingdom did not have such a gigantic person to go for competitions one fine evening the king took a long walk in the paddy field. He was walking with his long face. There was a poor farmer working in the paddy field observed the king the king's coming and forced that king was very upset and thinking about something very deeply. As the king came nearer the poor farmer approached the king and asked the king the reason for his upset. The king explained about the scroll. Immediately the farmer requested the king to send him to the competition. The king said about the gigantic person and his achievements.

However the poor farmer tried to convinced king to send him to the competition. Finally the king said yes to wishes of farmer on the completion day the king unwillingly sent the farmer for the completion. As he reached the venue the farmer witness a few match and keenly observed the gigantic person. Having observed the gigantic person keenly, his was farmer name was announced for competition. He got ready for competition. He went to the ground as soon as the gigantic person saw the lean farmer laughed cynically and asked "Are you going fight with me ?" I give a chance before hand get out of the ground.

The lean farmer hilariously smiled and said “If have to complete with you, to you have to pass the simple test that I am going to give. The gigantic man laughed loudly and said, ”You are a funny guy giving me a test”. He asked him to conduct the test. Immediately the farmer said the conditions, if you fail in the test you should accept that have lost in the match.

The gigantic man accepted and said pitifully explain the task. No sooner, the farmer look a piece of cloth and gave it to the gigantic man and said I give you three chance you should throw clot out this ground. This gigantic participant took the cloth and said “I don’t need three chances. I win do it with in a chance. He throw the cloth smilingly. The cloth fell within the ground. Once again the gigantic man took the cloth and folded it and throw it on the air. It flew away to a small distance and fell with in the ground. The gigantic man got angry and used the third chance using whole strength. He throw the cloth. Unfortunately the cloth couldn’t cross the boundary line of the ground. Hence, he lost in the test. He asked him to throw the cloth. If you throw this cloth out of the ground. I would gladly accept my loss. The farmer took the cloth and took some sand in the cloth and tied it and used his whole strength to throw. The cloth fell few away from the ground. Finally, he won the competition and saved his country. Therefore intelligence ever conquered.

V. MAGESH KUMAR

22BB05